Reactions to Amgen v. Sanofi and the Future of Patent Law's Enablement Requirement

For the first time in decades, the Supreme Court will consider patent law's "enablement" requirement, in Amgen Inc. v. Sanofi. That requirement is often a key point in litigation when a patent claims a class of novel compounds or antibodies. In the oral argument on March 27, the Supreme Court will examine the Federal Circuit's holding that patentees must disclose enough information to "enable" people of ordinary skill in the relevant art to "reach the full scope" of the claimed invention. In this day-after webinar, litigators from Goodwin's Supreme Court and IP Litigation practices will recap the argument and explain what it could mean for the future of the enablement requirement.

Goodwin Webinar Series: Life Sciences Disputes

Goodwin is pleased to invite you to our Life Sciences Disputes webinar series, which will highlight current topics across our Securities Litigation and Antitrust practice areas that affect life sciences companies.

Trends and Hot Topics in Securities Litigation and SEC Enforcement for the Life Sciences Industry
November 9, 2021 – 1:00 pm – 2:00 pm EST

Life sciences and biotech companies are particularly vulnerable to securities class actions due to the variety of event-driven disclosures and the inherently volatile nature of their stock prices. Because of this, over the past several years the biotech and life sciences industries have been the most targeted industries by plaintiffs' lawyers and a consistent focus of the SEC. Our panel will address the unique securities law disclosure issues facing life sciences companies, particularly with respect to managing risk arising from disclosures of clinical trial results and communications with FDA.

FTC Antitrust Lessons Learned for Life Sciences Companies
November 18, 2021 – 2:00 pm – 3:00 pm EST

Over the past several months, Federal Trade Commission (FTC) oversight has been unprecedently high when it comes to exit transactions. Additionally, rules are changing in real time that affect M&A transactions and licensing collaborations, especially in the life sciences industry.

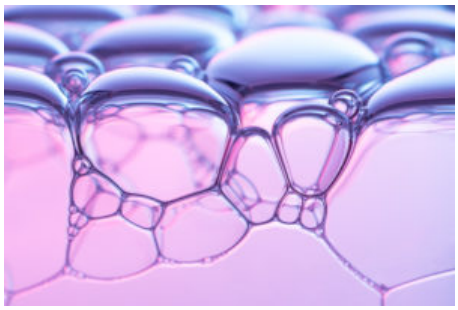
Goodwin Virtual Series: Foundations in Healthcare Compliance for Life Sciences Companies



In the ever-evolving life sciences industry, compliance is top-of-mind for investors, business leaders, the public and the government. Life sciences companies are subject to increased enforcement efforts and greater public scrutiny, and boards, investors, and other key stakeholders call for more and better compliance controls. As a result, there are increased expectations on what compliance programs should cover and what resources should be dedicated to making these programs successful.

With the growing importance of compliance for emerging life sciences companies, Goodwin and the Berkeley Research Group are pleased to announce our inaugural Foundations in Healthcare Compliance series, a multi-part training series where participants will learn from experienced lawyers and professionals about the various considerations when building and growing a compliance program in the life sciences industry.

This five-week series is designed for new compliance officers, in-house counsel or their delegates and investor clients seeking more information about compliance in the life sciences market. We will offer CLE credit for lawyer attendees and non-lawyer compliance certification (HCCA), if available.

For further information and to request an invitation to the series check out the Foundations in Healthcare Compliance mini site.
